

Testimonials

For the October issue (no. 5/2024), the editorial team of “Swiss Review” is collecting testimonials on the topic of “50 years of Swiss Review”. A selection will be published in the print edition. An extended selection will be published online.

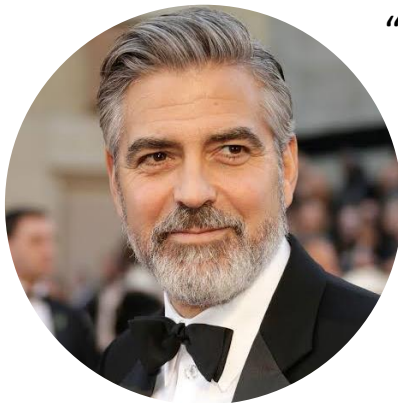

The testimonial can touch on very different aspects: What does the Swiss Review mean to me? How do I use it? What do I expect from it? How long has it been with me? Does it keep me connected to Switzerland? Does it keep my language of origin alive?

The testimonial may also contain episodic, bizarre, and personal details: My first encounter with the magazine; why I only read it in the bathtub; why I mainly use it for handicrafts; why we always argue about who gets to read it first; why I use it – thanks to its four language versions – in language lessons; ...

Formal requirements

- Approximately 250 to a maximum of 550 characters of text
- With first name surname, place/country of residence and, if applicable, professional function
- Written in German, French, English or Spanish
- With at least one portrait photo in JPEG format
- To be sent by July 31, 2024 to: revue@swisscommunity.org

Sample testimonials (fictitious)

“I usually read the Swiss Review on my yacht in Saint-Tropez, where I can enjoy reading it undisturbed. And my grandchildren fold paper boats out of the read copies. So the Swiss Review has many uses.”

Peter Mustermann, Swiss Review reader since 1952, Saint-Tropez

“My name is Swiss, my identity is Swiss – yet I've never been to Switzerland. But the Swiss Review helps me to get an up-to-date picture of Switzerland. I really appreciate that.”

Heidi Vontobel-Zraggen, Bahia Bustamante/Argentina, President Swiss Club